E-Learning & Employee Development

THE BUSINESS OBJECTIVE
Western Union, through its business partner Complete Intelligence, LLC., sought to build competencies around Interpersonal Skills, Relationship Building, Customer Service, Managing Change, and Team Development for the global employee base. In addition to developing knowledge and skills in these areas, other logistical challenges included:

- Large, Global Participant Base: 9,000+ participants for this program.
- Challenging Training Environment: A dispersed employee population of all levels with limited time for traditional training.
- Training Applicability and Metrics: An effective method of measurement to ensure training applicability.

The company created an Employee Development Program, implemented it across the individual contributor employee base, and used Emergenetics to specifically focus on competency areas.

THE SOLUTION
Emergenetics was implemented via a customized system of Assessments, E-Learning programs, online development tools and metrics.

THE RESULTS

- Enhanced Interpersonal Success
- Greater Self-Awareness
- Stronger Team Dynamics & Performance
- Value to Clients & Customers

95% Developed new knowledge and skills via Emergenetics E-Learning modules.
98% Would recommend the program to other Western Union employees.
CASE STUDY

THE RESULTS IN-DEPTH

- Emergenetics created clear, measurable value related to work responsibilities and company performance.
- Emergenetics was linked to tactical communication proficiency and applied across a broad spectrum of employee roles and customer needs.
- Emergenetics was overwhelmingly cited as the most useful element of the Employee Development Program because it provided self-awareness and an action-oriented approach to work.

99% of participants found the Emergenetics Profile assessment valuable to their work. Participants were able to demonstrate a clear connection of how brain-based behavior was fused with their critical business objectives and job functions.

97% of participants found the Tip Sheet developmental tool valuable to their work. Participants utilized Tip Sheets to gain additional interpersonal insights to the Emergenetics Profile.

EMERGENETICS E-LEARNING RESULTS

The Employee Development Program incorporated seven customized E-Learning modules for participants to fulfill self-directed, interactive knowledge gain and enhance core development needs.
